

PRIVACY POLICY:

At DJJ Legal Services, we highly value your privacy and are committed to being transparent about the information we collect and how we protect it. This privacy policy outlines our practices concerning the collection and usage of your information. Please refer to this page for the most recent version of our privacy policy.

Information Collection:

We gather two types of information from our visitors: anonymous information and personal information. Anonymous information includes data like your IP address, geographic location, browser software details, operating system, device information, access dates, and referring/exiting URLs. This information is used to enhance our website and understand user behavior. Personal information, which includes your name, address, email address, and phone number, is collected through features like contact forms. You are not obligated to provide personal information unless you choose to use these specific website features.

How We Use Your Information:

If you voluntarily provide personal information, such as through a contact form, we may use this data to contact you and enhance our communication with you. We may also use this information to keep you informed about our law firm news and events, provided you have the option to opt out of such communications (see Removal of Information and Opting Out section below). Please note that information submitted online, including through contact forms, is not completely secure and should not be considered confidential. The submission of a form does not establish an attorney-client relationship.

Use of Cookies:

We use cookies, which are small data files, to enhance our website's functionality and improve user experience. Cookies do not reveal your identity or provide access to your computer. You can disable cookies in your browser settings, but this may impact website functionality. By using our website without disabling cookies, you consent to their use as described in this policy.

We utilize Google Analytics, a third-party analytics provider, to gain insights into our site's usage. Google Analytics employs cookies for data collection but does not receive personally identifiable information through these cookies. You can review Google Analytics' privacy policy for more details.

Third Parties and External Links:

Our website might contain links to third-party websites. We are not responsible for the content or privacy policies of these external sites, and any information you share with them is subject to their respective policies.

Removal of Information and Opting Out:

If you wish to opt out of our communications, reply to any marketing communication with the subject line "unsubscribe."

Questions and Concerns:

If you have any questions or concerns about our privacy practices, please don't hesitate to contact us. Your privacy is important to us, and we are here to address any inquiries you may have.

Sincerely,
Darrell Johnston, Esquire., MFA
